RE: APPLICATION FOR THE APPLICATIONS DEVELOPER POSITION

Dear Sir/Madam

This letter is to express my interest in your advertised position on the February 17, 2019 Sunday Standard Newspaper for an Applications Developer. With a degree in BSc Computing with Finance, and hands-on experience using some web programming languages such as HTML5, JQuery, JavaScript, Java, Python and some knowledge in .NET programming languages to develop and implement software applications, I am assured that I will be a positive addition to the software development team in your organization.

I enjoy being challenged with projects that afford me an opportunity to work outside my comfort and knowledge set consequently enabling me to gain some new skill set, as continuing to learn new languages and development techniques is important to my growth and development as a software developer and in turn would be even more beneficial to your organization.

Your outlined technical competencies closely match the background and skills I possess, of which I believe would enable me to contribute towards your organizations' application development needs and where I lack for in skills I make up for in hard work and the constant desire to learn.

I have attached a copy of my curriculum vitae that details my achievements and experience in software development.

Thank you for your time taken to consider my application. I look forward to hearing from you about this opportunity.

Sincerely,

Diphoko Ame Nono
